

Teaching Skills in International Research Ethics Workshop (TaSkR) V

Thomas Inui, ScM, MD

Director of Research, IU Center for Global Health, Co-Director
AMPATH Research

Teaching Skills in International Research Ethics Workshop (TaSkR) V: Title and Theme

---

“Individuality, Community and Personhood in International Research Ethics: The African Context”

Aims:

- (1) Advance teaching skills in research ethics
- (2) Explore an element of the intellectual foundations for ethics in research

TaSkR V Addresses

---

- “Bioethics and an African Value System” Segun Gbadegesin, Ph.D., professor of philosophy and interim dean of the College of Arts and Sciences at Howard University.
- “Aspects of Ubuntu for International Research Ethics” Isaac Mwase, Ph.D., M.Div., MBA, MPH
- “Personhood: A Comparative Study” Joseph Kahiga, M.Phil., Ph.D., associate professor of philosophy at Moi University, and Jason Eberl, Ph.D., associate professor of philosophy at IUPUI
- “Team-Based Learning and Other Approaches to Teaching International Research Ethics” Peter Schwartz, M.D., Ph.D., assistant professor of medicine at the IU School of Medicine, and faculty investigator at the IU Center for Bioethics
- “Community Engagement to Shape Consent Processes for Vulnerable Populations in Kenya” Rachel Vreeman, M.D., M.S., assistant professor of pediatrics in Children’s Health Services Research at the IU School of Medicine and co-director for pediatric research for AMPATH

TaSkR V Bonus

---

“Equipose in Clinical Trials: The Moral Justification of Randomization and Why It Fails”

The Robert L. Wolen Lecture in Bioethics, Department of Pharmacology and Toxicology, IUSM

Robert Veach, PhD. Professor of Medical Ethics at the Kennedy Institute of Ethics; Professor in the Philosophy Department at Georgetown University