PROCREATION, POWER, AND PERSONAL AUTONOMY: FEMINIST REFLECTIONS

SELECTED BIBLIOGRAPHY

Daniels, K.R. 2000. “To give or sell human gametes—the interplay between pragmatics, policy and ethics.” Journal of Medical Ethics 26, 206-211.

Green, Josephine and Helen Statham. 1996. “Psychosocial aspects of prenatal screening and diagnosis.” In Marteau and Richards, 140-163.

_____ 2003. “Care and justice in the global context.” Associations Journal for Legal and Social Theory 7(1).

_____ and Laura M. Purdy, eds. 1992. Feminist Perspectives in Medical Ethics Bloomington, IN, Indiana University Press.

Mahoney, Joan. 1995. “Adoption as a feminist alternative to reproductive technology.” In Callahan.

McLeod, Carolyn and Francoise Baylis. 2007. “The stem cell debate continues: The buying and selling of eggs for research.” Journal of Medical Ethics 33(12)

Price, Frances. 1991. “Now you see it, now you don’t: Mediating science and managing uncertainty in reproductive medicine.” In Irwin and Wynn, Misunderstanding Science, 84-106.

