Welcome to ShareLL!

ShareLL is a gateway to electronic and print resources pertaining to all aspects of interlibrary loan (ILL), document delivery, and more. Being both international in scope, ShareLL features links to resources that will help practitioners locate materials for their clientele, profession.

Finding aids and verification tools. When you can't find what you're looking for in the usual places, look here. National libraries in their respective countries and languages. Search gateways and union catalogs and online directories for links to special collections. If you need citation but don't know where to look, check our list of verification tools. Order materials directly from document suppliers.

Managing your operation. ILL practices are governed by a vast array of codes and guidelines which can be regional, national, or institutional. Many often publish their own protocols or promote joint licensing agreements for their members. Systems, software and standards for utilities, ILL management systems, and document transmission software. These systems are based on computer standards such as the National Circulation Interchange Protocol (NCIP). The copyright and licensing page will direct you to sites where you can learn about copyright and royalties online. Marketing tools are another way to make your operation more visible to both internal and external customers.

Current awareness tools. Conferences as well as discussion lists and blogs are a great way to keep in touch with your colleagues on the web. Professional associations often have sections or committees devoted to resource sharing concerns. List of national and state libraries

From Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia

A national library is specifically established by the government of a nation to serve as the information for that country. Unlike public libraries, they rarely allow citizens to borrow books. They hold numerous rare, valuable, or significant works; such as the Gutenberg Bible. National libraries vary in their size, compared to that of other libraries in the same country. Some national libraries are specialized in some specific domains, beside or in replacement of the 'main' national library.

Some national entities which are not independent but who wish to preserve their particular history, have a national library with all the attributes of such institutions, such as legal deposit.

Many national libraries cooperate within the National Libraries Section of the International Association of Agricultural Librarians and Documentalists (IFLA) to discuss their common tasks, define and promote projects helping them to fulfil their duties. National libraries of Europe participate in The service of The Conference of European National Librarians (CENL).

The list below is organized alphabetically by country, according to the list of sovereign states. A "♦" indicates a national library of a constituent country or dependent state. It is listed even when they have no national library or when the existence and name of a national library of a constituent country and dependent states are listed only if they have a national library.

East Asian Gateway Service

About the Gateway Service

The East Asian Gateway Service (EAGS) was established in October 1998 by a grant from the U.S. Federal Institute of Museum and Library Services. Since October 2001, the EAGS has been financially supported by the University of Pittsburgh Library System. The EAGS is a pioneer in developing a transcontinental interlibrary partnership.

The EAGS, administered by the East Asian Library of the ULS, focuses on free delivery of full-text Chinese and Korean language academic publications to researchers. The EAGS delivers Chinese documents to any individual researchers for research and teaching purpose or non-profit organizations who cannot find the needed item in any U.S. libraries. However, the service for Korean documents offers delivery to the University of Pittsburgh faculty and students only. The service is reciprocal, as the ULS provides document delivery service of English language materials to its Chinese and Korean partner libraries.

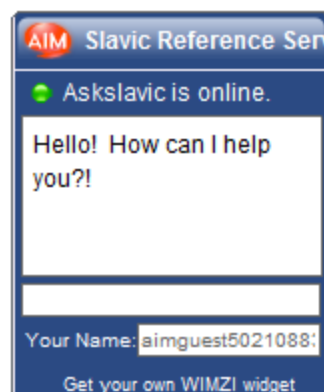

In the past nine years, the EAGS has succeeded in not only providing an effective research support to thousands of China scholars in the United States and researchers and scientists in China, but also in creating an extensive partnership with 16 academic or research libraries in mainland China, Hong Kong, Macau, and Taiwan. According to the EAGS' statistics, from 1999 to 2008(FY), it received a total number of 17,734 requests; since 2003, more than half of the requests are from the Chinese partner libraries. The geographical map of the EAGS's U.S.-based users covers 40 states in America, more than 130 colleges and universities, and many other

Do you need help with locating items or have difficult reference questions? If so, you may want to try this free year-round service at the University of Illinois. The Slavic Reference Service handles bibliographic and reference questions in all subject areas connected to Russian, East European, and Eurasian Studies. In addition to contacting the Slavic Reference Service directly, researchers can browse our collection of research guides, which contains information on vernacular language print and electronic resources for Russian, East European, and Eurasian Studies [See: <http://www.library.illinois.edu/spx/webct/index.html>]. Moreover, the reference staff have a blog [see: <http://srscite.blogspot.com/>], which highlights recent online resources they have found useful in answering requests.

About the library

The library of Trinity College Dublin is the largest library in Ireland. The library was established at the same time as the College in 1592 and now holds over 4 million volumes. It is a legal deposit library meaning it is entitled to claim a copy of every book published in the UK and Ireland.

The main libraries are found on the College campus:

- Berkeley Library: contains materials for history, law, official publications, psychology and print reference and bibliography collections for all subjects
- Lecky Library: contains materials for business, economics, social sciences, education, geography and geology
- Ussher Library: contains materials for classics, history of art, Jewish studies, biblical studies, theology, languages, literature, music, nursing & midwifery, philosophy and print periodicals for all arts subjects
- Hamilton Library: contains materials (books and journals) for computer science, engineering, health sciences, mathematics and sciences

Other collections available are:

- Early Printed Books Reading Room: holds a small reference collection and is used for consulting older books from the closed access collections

AUSTRALIAN INTERLIBRARY
RESOURCE SHARING DIRECTORY

The ILRS directory is a directory of Australian interlibrary loan and document delivery services and National Union Catalogue (NUC) symbols. To apply for an entry use the New Entry form. To update your entry use Search to find the entry and select the "Edit this record" button at the bottom of the page.

ALIA has announced a revised pricing structure for Inter Library Loans. As of 1st October 2011 prices for Core, Rush and Express loans and copies will rise. These new charges have already been incorporated into the ILRS Directory. Read about the changes on the ALIA website.
